Re: Staff Report Update: Cheyenne Little Theatre Creative Sign Program

Date: September 25, 2015

Members of Council:

The Public Services Committee met on September 22, 2015, at which time an updated proposal was submitted for the Cheyenne Little Theatre Creative Sign Program. Modifications to the sign include:

1. A reduction in sign height from 8-feet to 7-feet
2. A reduction in EMC sign display area from 27 SF to 21 SF
3. Elimination of the ornamental stone base

The proposed size reductions are seen as de minimus and staff is supportive of the first two modifications. There is some hesitation pertaining to the third modification which is the elimination of the ornamental stone base, in light of setting precedent for future proposals.

The Creative Sign Program identifies quality material in the design criteria, and the utilization of architectural elements of the building on the subject site in the architectural criteria. The principle building in this case is made of red and tan brick. In the original application, the applicant referenced their approach to material selection as "intentionally representational" of other landmark type signs, identifying the new welcome center sign, the Cheyenne entry sign, and the LEADS proposal. With the removal of the stone base, it is not clear how the applicant is approaching the design and architectural criteria. The previous sign proposal substantially met the criteria through the use of the stone base, which made the sign more compatible with the building. Elimination of the stone brings to question whether the design and architectural criteria are being met.

Again, the purpose of the Creative Sign Program is to encourage signs of unique design, exhibiting a high degree of thoughtfulness, imagination, inventiveness, spirit and sense of place. Staff recommends approval of the original submittal.

A COMMUNITY OF CHOICE

If Council is able to establish how the new sign proposal meets the criteria of the Creative Sign Program, a motion should be made to amend the Resolution to approve the Creative Sign Program with the revised design approach as presented by the applicant at the September 22, 2015 Public Services Committee, which removes the stone base.

Should Council want to approve the original submittal, the motion could be to approve the Creative Sign Program as originally submitted, which includes the stone base.

This update is in reference to agenda item #12.
